FAITH-FILLED PHILOSOPHY

Camino began with a small group of Christians. A quarter of a century later, our team is much more diverse, and reflective of the diversity of the people we serve. We are not a faith-based organization but we are a faith-filled one. While some of our programs and initiatives are not religious in nature, everything we do is still guided by faith and girded with faithfulness.

EL FUTURO ES LATINO

There is a shift happening in the United States. El Futuro es Latino—and it isn't far off. With values of faith, family, and an unparalleled industrious work ethic, Latinos are the heroes that our country needs. They only need one thing—un camino. That's why our vision is to make North Carolina the best place for Latinos to live, work, and call home.*

*White families have an average of 1.7 children; Latino families have an average of 4.3 children. EL Futuro es Latino. The average age of a white person in the United States is 58 years old; the average age of Latinos is 11.
