

CAMINO RESEARCH INSTITUTE

Community driven, culturally competent research to enact social change

IN 2022

We published our first paper in an academic journal, titled "Así es la Vida: Stress, Control, and Coping among Latino/a Immigrants"

1,027 people completed the Latino Strengths and Needs Assessment across the state of North Carolina.

147 people completed the Community Voting Survey

171 people completed the Opinion Poll Survey

REPORTS

LATINO STRENGTHS & NEEDS ASSESSMENT

bit.ly/LCSNA2022

COVID-19
REPORT

bit.ly/C19CLT

WHO IS CRI?

Camino Research Institute (CRI) was founded in 2021 and is a hub for community-driven Latino research. Our mission is to equip communities to use knowledge and action to promote social and systemic change, leading to improved health and wellbeing in Latino communities.

WHAT DO WE DO?

We are a hub for community-driven research that informs the development and implementation of services and policies that meet the needs of Latinos. Research conducted at Camino Institute focuses on addressing the social determinants of health through community based participatory research (CBPR) approaches. CBPR builds on the strengths and resources of the community, fostering a collaborative and equitable partnership between community members and researchers.